

ARI POSNER is a fixture in Canadian film and television, having scored hit TV series such as Sullivan's Crossing, Anne with an E, X Company, and Flashpoint. His film scores include award winning projects such as Tulipani, The End of Sex, and After the Ball.

He shared a 2013 Canadian Screen Award with his longtime friend Amin Bhatia for their work on the internationally acclaimed and Toronto-made series Flashpoint, as well as CSA nominations in 2014, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019, and 2020. Over the years Ari has been nominated five other times for Gemini Awards and was also the recipient of a Juno Award for producing the popular children's album Music Soup.

Alongside his talented colleague Ian Lefeuvre, Posner also co-wrote the theme music to Terry O'Reilly's CBC Radio talk show Under the Influence. Posner and Lefeuvre enjoy a great shorthand together after having spent five years scoring the hit children's animated series Johnny Test.

Originally from Winnipeg, Ari is a proud alumnus of York University's Fine Arts Program where he studied composition and improvisation. Through his traditional music background and experience collaborating with live musicians and orchestras, Posner has developed a rich compositional skill set. His studio can be found on Front St. in downtown Toronto at Pirate Sound.
